The Cost of a Hotel Panic Button System

An in-depth look into the real cost of a panic button...

broken down to you by REVLAB so you can be better prepared on your future investment

Having only been relevant for the past few years, Panic Button Systems have become widely known for their high price tags. Some going for as high as $50,000 for a 100-200 room hotel!

What most people don't know is that current municipal law does not require hotels to buy direct from hotel suppliers as you would think. Purchasing from a third party company saves a hotel thousands per year. Many independent tech. companies across the country have developed Panic Button Systems for much less than their mainstream competitors.
